Tri County Tech Medicine and Biosciences Instructor Casey Woods (center) has been named the Association for Career and Technical Education Region IV New Teacher of the Year. Woods will now advance to represent Region IV at the national awards this December.

Tri County instructor named ACTE Region IV New Teacher of the Year

Bartlesville — Tri County Tech Medicine and Biosciences Instructor Casey Woods has been named the Association for Career and Technical Education Region IV New Teacher of the Year, a prestigious honor recognizing outstanding early-career educators across a multi-state region.

Woods first earned recognition at the state level before advancing to Region IV, where she was selected among the top educators representing multiple states.

She will go on to represent Region IV at the national level, competing for National New Teacher of the Year in December.

The award highlights teachers within their first five years who demonstrate excellence in the classroom, a strong commitment to student success, and meaningful contributions to career and technical education.

In the Medicine and Biosciences program, Woods prepares students for careers in healthcare through hands-on, real-world learning.

Her approach connects classroom instruction to clear career pathways, helping students build the technical skills, confidence, and professionalism needed to succeed in the medical field.

“Teaching in the Medicine and Biosciences program is incredibly meaningful. Watching students grow in confidence and skill as they prepare for careers in healthcare is what makes this work so rewarding. I am grateful to be part of a team that is focused on helping students build a strong foundation for their future,” Woods said.

She also partners closely with local healthcare providers to give students valuable clinical exposure, ensuring they graduate prepared to meet the demands of today’s workforce.

“Casey represents the very best of Tri County Tech. Her passion for student success, commitment to high-quality instruction, and ability to connect learning to real-world careers make a lasting impact. We are proud to celebrate this well-deserved recognition,” said TCT Supt. Dr. Tammie Strobel.

Nowata County judge’s race to be decided on Nov. 2

It was incorrectly reported in the June 24 edition that the race for associate district judge for Nowata County will be held in the primary runoffs on Aug. 25.

The judge’s election between candidates James Pfeffer and Linda Branstette will instead be held during the general elections on Nov. 2.

News Briefs

Beekeepers to meet next Thursday in Independence, Kan.

The Montgomery County Beekeepers Association will meet on Thursday, July 9, at 6:30 p.m.

This meeting will be held at Independence Community College West, located at 2615 W. Main Street in Independence, Kan.

Some of our beekeepers recently attended Fun Day in Lawrence, Kan., hosted by Northeast Kansas Beekeepers Association, and gained much valuable information to help in their beekeeping adventure.

They will address the group on highlights of that event and give the group information on the different subjects that were presented.

Our meetings always include time for questions that beekeepers may have to help with their beekeeping adventure. A door prize related to beekeeping will be given at the meeting.

As always, our meetings are open to the public. We welcome all beekeepers and anyone interested in honeybees to attend our meetings. For more information call 620-423-2721, 620-331-9394, 620-249-4864, 808-347-1557, 620-688-0000 or 918-977-1502.

Service officer on hand at Nowata American Legion

The Nowata American Legion Post has scheduled service officers to assist local veterans in answering questions about benefits and to assist in filing claims.

These service officers are volunteers serving as a link between the veteran and the U.S. Dept. of Veterans Affairs and can assist with organizing paperwork and connecting veterans with local, state, and federal resources.

Current schedule is the second and fourth Thursday of each month, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. The American Legion building is located at 506 W. Shawnee Avenue. If you just want to visit during these times, come on by for a donut and cup of coffee.
