Starting this Saturday, January 10, bingo is back at the American Legion and the familiar call of numbers and bursts of laughter are once again filling the hall.

The American Legion has officially restarted its Bingo nights, inviting the community to come out for an evening of fun, friendly competition, and fellowship. Bingo will be held on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, giving both regular players and newcomers a consistent chance to join in.

Adding a touch of nostalgia, organizers are using the original Bingo setup that was recently discovered in the attic at the fire department. The classic equipment brings back memories for longtime players and adds a special sense of history to the evenings.

Doors open at 5:30 in the evening, with games beginning promptly at 6:00.

Players can choose from several card packet options, each offering ten games per packet. A three face packet is available for seven dollars, a six face packet for twelve dollars, and a nine face packet for seventeen dollars, allowing participants to play at the level that suits them best.

American Legion Bingo has long been a favorite local tradition, known for its welcoming atmosphere and lively crowd. Organizers encourage everyone to arrive early, grab a seat, and enjoy an evening that supports the Legion while bringing the community together.

Whether you are a seasoned Bingo player or trying it for the first time, the return of Bingo nights promises a fun and affordable way to spend a Saturday evening.
