

Students attend senior reality check - a program offered by PHS

Submitted by Perry Public Schools

Perry High School seniors participated in a Senior Reality Check event at the Noble County Fairgrounds on Wednesday, November 19.

During this experience, students were given an occupation, salary, and a family situation. From there seniors had to learn how to budget their monthly income. Students then went to different booths to purchase their monthly expenses, such as mortgage, car payment, insurance, child care, and groceries. Some students found themselves with leftover money to “put into savings or invest,” while others found themselves needing to get a second job to make ends meet.

Perry High School wishes to thank the OSU Noble County Extension Office for hosting this event for students to experience.

Morrison: Hailstone the Size of a Baseball

A Morrison resident submitted a photo of a large hailstone to the Perry Daily Journal Wednesday, giving a close look at the severe weather that passed through the area.

Jeremy Custer sent the image through Facebook Messenger at 10:15 p.m. on November 19. The hailstone measured about three inches across, roughly the size of a baseball.

The storm system moved across Noble County Wednesday night, bringing bursts of heavy rain and pockets of hail. Loud booms of thunder were heard throughout the night in Perry along with sounds of the sky cracking open with intermittent doses of heavy rainfall. No major damage was immediately reported, but residents noted brief periods of intense weather.

Custer said he had never seen hail that large in November and wanted to share the photo as a record of the unusual event. The Perry Daily Journal encourages readers to continue submitting weather photos and tips during active conditions.

in need of enrichment to shy adoptables waiting for their forever families, the animals at Fur on Fir are hoping the community will help fill their stockings.

This year’s list is posted on their Facebook page, making it easy for anyone to send a little joy straight to the animals who need it most. The wish list includes dry and wet dog food to keep hungry bellies full, dewormer to keep everyone healthy, cat food and treats for the whiskered crowd, dog pads for the pups still learning their manners, bleach to help keep the facility sparkling clean, and dog food puzzles to keep curious canines entertained on chilly winter days.

Fur on Fir, known for its grooming, daycare, and big-hearted adoptable animals, also has four puppies and one kitten hoping to find homes for the holidays. All have been fixed, all are full of love, and each one is waiting with bright eyes and an eager heart for the right family to walk through the door.

Anyone wishing to join in the holiday cheer can visit the Amazon list and send a gift that will be used daily in the care of local animals. Each donation, no matter how small, helps keep tails wagging and purrs rumbling well past Christmas morning.

Because at Fur on Fir, the magic of the season isn’t found under the tree, it’s found in every happy bark, soft purr, and second chance given to an animal who deserves it.
